

EVENT NAME:
FREEDOM ROCK RIDE
DATE:	Sunday, July 25th
TIME:	TBD
LOCATION:	 © 2005 MapQuest.com, Inc.
DESCRIPTION:	In 1999, while attending college, 19-yr-old Ray Michael "Bubba" Sorensen of Fontanelle, Iowa, was inspired by the movie, "Saving Private Ryan," and painted a sincere thank you to the veterans on a rock. The rock is a large boulder that marks the entrance to an old rock quarry. The work was so moving local veterans asked Bubba to keep painting the rock every year for Memorial Day. Bubba continues painting the rock with different scenes every year as a tribute to those who defend our freedom. The rock takes Bubba anywhere from 1-3 weeks to paint, using a latex house paint that he pays for himself along with donations given to him. http://www.thefreedomrock.com/
